ASSASSINATION OF COFFEY.

Brave Officer Shot Down From Ambush Near the Empire Mine.

WAS FOLLOWING UNION OUTLAWS WHEN KILLED.

FIVE UNION MEN ARE UNDER ARREST

Indignation Intense and Prospect for a Vigorous Prosecution.

Hopkinsville, Ky., October 29. The Empire Coal and Mining Company this afternoon offered a reward of $500 for the apprehension and conviction of the assassin or assassins of Mr. Robert Coffey.

(Special to the Bee.)

Empire, Ky., Oct. 26.—Robert H. Coffey, of Hopkinsville, a deputy sheriff of Christian county, was shot and killed early this morning near the Empire Coal Company's mines at this place. The murder was another of the outrages growing incident to the long and bitter contest between the union men allied with the United Mine Workers and the non-union miners employed in the coal mines of this section. Coffey was evidently shot from ambush while he was attempting to arrest a man or men in a buggy on a county road, whom he seems to have been pursuing. His body was found some hours later. A soft-nosed bullet had pierced his thigh, tearing out a great mass of bone and flesh.

A camp of union men, idlers and malcontents, is located in Hopkins county, a few miles from the Empire mines. The non-union miners have been so often fired at and the property of the companies so often attacked that it has been necessary for the operators to employ guards to protect lives and property.

This morning about 6 o'clock John Fields, a guard at the Empire, was making a survey preparatory to the coming on of the day shift. He was fired on from the timber on a neighboring hillside. He dropped behind a railroad embankment and returned the fire from his Winchester. Fifty or sixty shots were directed at him, only three striking near him, though the range was only 150 to 200 yards. Hearing the shots, Coffey, and other deputies and guards about the mining settlement, seized their guns and rushed for the scene of action. Coffey, who was in charge of the armed forces, met a horseman, Dr. Geo. J. Gooch, who lent him his mount, and Coffey made for the woods at a gallop, the others following and scattering through the hills. Some time after Coffey disappeared five shots were heard in the direction he had taken but were not immediately regarded.

When the searchers returned to Empire, Coffey was missing. Parties were sent out to look for him and he was found dead in the road. His horse, unharmed, was grazing near by with the bridle reins thrown off his neck. Coffey's rifle and pistol were with him and had not been discharged. The officer had apparently followed the tracks of a buggy from a point near where the early shooting took place. He probably overtook it, covered its occupant and dismounted, when he was shot by someone hidden in the woods. There were indications that the buggy had stopped and turned, as if to allow someone to alight, near the place where the body was found. There were also evidences that a man had been in the woods. Footprints were found and at one point the man apparently had stumbled and fallen as though he had been running. Besides the tracks of the buggy and horse in the road there were also the tracks of a mule. The man on foot seemed to have run by a short cut in the road, perhaps to rejoin the occupants of the buggy. The tracks of the buggy were followed some distance but the vehicle was not overtakeable. It had traveled toward Nortonville, near which place the union camp is located. A hat was found not far from Coffey's body.

Searching parties scoured the woods and seven persons were arrested on suspicion. Charles Barnes, son of the sheriff of Christian county, and himself a deputy, arrested Will Goldsworth, who was armed with a big 44-caliber revolver and a belt filled with cartridges. After Goldsworth was disarmed he grabbed a pistol from one of the arresting party and tried to shoot Barnes but someone grabbed his arm in time. Barnes leveled his rifle at Goldsworth but a bystander also seized him and prevented his shooting. Of the men arrested Goldsworth was the only one with arms. The other prisoners are Ed Goldsworth, Jim Will Anderson, George Phillips, Deckard, and two men whose names cannot be learned. Those named are all union men and agitators. All of the prisoners were taken to Hopkinsville this afternoon.

After the inquest held by Coroner Allenworth the body of the murdered man was taken this afternoon to the family home in Hopkinsville. The deceased leaves a wife and several children. One of his sons is in the Philippine army and another, Frank Coffey, is telegraph operator at Madisonville. He was about 55 years old.

INTENSE EXCITEMENT.

People of Christian County Shocked and Outraged by the Dastardly Crime.

TRouble THERE FOLLOWED ESTABLISHMENT OF CAMP

Hopkinsville, Ky., Oct. 26.—The news of the trouble and the killing of Coffey has caused the wildest excitement in and around Empire and throughout that section of North Christian.

It was heard by Hopkinsville people with the greatest indignation, mingled with deep regret over the assassination of the brave and popular officer, and there is a universal feeling that the strong arm of the law should be used in the greatest possible effort to restore peace and stamp out the lawlessness that has resulted in the foul murder.

The murdered man was well and favorably known throughout this region. He was a detective of splendid ability, and there was no officer more dreaded by the criminal classes.

A COURAGEOUS MAN.

He was a man of intrepid courage. Time and again his bravery had been tested under the most trying circumstances, and always he was cool, alert and absolutely fearless. He was devoted to his work, which had won him widespread and well-deserved reputation. He was formerly on the police force of Hopkinsville, and later was special agent for the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company. He served a term as mayor of Guthrie, Ky., and later operated a detective agency.

For about eight months he had been in the service of the Empire Coal and Mining Company as chief guard, and had discharged the duties of the place with perfect success.

Nearly a year ago, and again last spring there was considerable disorder about Empire due to efforts to organize the mines. These attempts failed, for the miners have no complaints to make against the company, and express themselves as pleased at all times with their relation to it.

TROUBLE STARTS.

Everything had worked very smoothly till the last week in September, following the breaking up of union camps in Hopkins county. On September 30, the unarmed Empire men were fired on from ambush when they were on their way home from work. On the following night the houses of the miners were fired into. In the two attacks two of the company's men were wounded, but not seriously.

The grand jury investigated the assaults and returned indictments against Bud and Bert Knight, who had been recognized among the assailants. Neither has been captured.

LIVE IN PERIL.

From that time till the present the miners and the guards who had been sent to protect the company's property have been in peril, for shooting from ambush and at all hours of the day and night has been kept up.

On Oct. 10 there was a fight in the rain and darkness between the guards and unknown men and over two hundred shots were fired. A day or two later several guards were fired on near Munington.

It became more quiet during the following week and on the 18th the authorities reduced the force of guards, releasing ten men. There are now twenty men on duty. It is probable that the number of guards will be immediately increased.

AIDED BY UNION.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Oct. 28.—The five strikers were taken this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Cansler to have the time of their examining trial set. The United Mine Workers of America, the miners' union of which they are members, has hurried to their assistance. District President James D. Wood arrived in the city this morning on the 6 o'clock train. With him was Attorney Everett Jennings, of Madisonville. The firm of G. W. Southall & Son was employed to aid in the defense, and the services of Judge William H. Yost of Greenville have also been secured. County Attorney Anderson, for the Commonwealth, and Hunter Wood & Son, representing the mining company, stated that they would not be ready to enter into the trial for ten days, as at least that much was used. The officer was well and favorably known throughout this region. He was a detective of splendid ability, and there was

FOR LAW AND GOOD ORDER

In these days of the outlaw and the demagogue, when no man's life and no man's business seems safe from the attacks of these two classes of men who curse the country, it is pleasant to the editor to get an occasional expression of endorsement from an appreciative reader. Friendly approval, indeed, generally goes far toward making up an editor's reward.

Webster county subscriber writes:

Editor Bee:

Enclosed find money order for extension of my subscription to The Bee. In these days of anarchy, lawlessness and midnight assassins, it is gratifying to have at least one paper in southern Kentucky whose editor is a bold, fearless, outspoken advocate of law and order.

May its shadow never grow less nor its sting less pungent.

GRAPENEVE ITEMS.

The farmers are taking advantage of the fine weather and are getting up their fall work.

Editor W. H. Moore filed his regular appointment here Saturday and Sunday. He has just closed a meeting at Bethel with nine additions to the church.

Several from this vicinity have been attending the protracted meeting at Liberty.

Jacob Myers, an old citizen, was buried here late Friday evening. He was afflicted with dropsy.

Thomas F. Wilson is still very weak at his home on Flat Creek, with but little hope of his recovery.

Mrs. Lynch of Nebo has moved in the farm with her son-in-law, Joe Parrish, who lives in the Wilson's schoolhouse.

Mrs. Myra Food returned Saturday from Greenville. She was accompanied home by Maudine Elwin Puryear and Rufus Martin.

Mrs. Ann Cox of Madisonville is spending the week with her sister, Mrs. Lucinda Todd.

John Barrett Moore, who has been living near the church, has moved to the Buckner farm, in order to get closer to his work.

Mrs. Sarah Slaton, mother of John Slaton, has been spending a week with him.

Will Walker and family spent several days in this vicinity last week.

PRES. MINTERS KILLED.

Veteran Colored Miner Loses Life by Standing Shot in Monarch Mine.

Press Minters, aged about 50 years, a thirty and industrial veteran colored miner, was killed Friday in the Monarch mine, at 10 o'clock. The fatal shot was caused by a family shot he had made. It was the fatal "standing shot" again, as it is known in mining parlance. In other words, Minters had mined his room and fired his shot, which loosened the coal, but left it standing. Going back to flush, he worked underneath the coal, which fell and caught him.

Press Minters had been a coal miner in this county for many years, and had accumulated some property. He was an honest, sober man, and numbered many friends among both white and colored people. His home was in Earlinton, where he owned several houses and lots.

102 YEARS OLD.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 30.—John Hanselman, living in Kentucky, opposite Mt. Vernon, Ind., celebrated his 102d birthday Sunday, and a large number of his relatives and friends gathered there in honor of the event. Hanselman is probably the oldest man in Kentucky.

ROBBERS AT MORGANFIELD.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 28.—Robbers secured control of the Illinois Central depot at Morganfield, Ky., last night, and were tracked by bloodhounds to the Henderson bridge, where it is believed they escaped into Indiana. Local detectives are searching for them.

A NEW TRIAL ORDERED.

Appellate Court Finds Numerous Errors in Record of Lower Court.

CASE OF THE HOPKINS COUNTY DEPUTIES REVERSED

Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and Tenth Instructions of the Court Not Stand the Test.

LINDEL HAD RIGHT TO ARREST WITHOUT WARRANTS

Officers Had Right, in Order to Make Arrests, to Shoot, If Any Resisted

Arrests.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 29.—The judgment of the Hopkins Circuit Court in the case of the Commonwealth against J. B. Lindle, Wade McIntosh and Ed Johnson, in which they were convicted of manslaughter and conspiracy in the killing of Henry Taylor, a union miner, and sentenced to confinement for two years in the State penitentiary, was reversed by the Court of Appeals today, and the case sent back to the lower court for a new trial. The whole court considered the case. Judge Burnam delivered the opinion and Judge Gaffy dissented.

The case has been a hard fought one and excited much feeling in the Western Kentucky mining section at the time of the trial in the lower court.

Lindle was a deputy sheriff of Hopkins county, on duty at one of the mines at the time of the killing of Taylor, and had summoned Johnson and McIntosh as members of a posse to go with him to Boxtown, where the union miners were assembled, to demand that they, in pursuance of a proclamation of the sheriff, disband.

Taylor was at the head of the column of miners. He drew a pistol from his pocket and a number of shots were fired. Taylor and another miner, Bill Cook, were killed.

Appealed Because of Errors.

On appeal of the case to the court here, by the defendants, error in the admission of evidence and the instructions of the court were alleged. The court says in the opinion of today that the defendants should have been granted a continuance under the peculiar facts of the case because the Commonwealth subpoenaed, with a view of introducing, witnesses whose names were not at the foot of the indictment, and that the court erred in not permitting the defense to prove declarations by members of the United Mine Workers' Association as to the plans and purposes of the organization to close up the various mines in Hopkins county. The court says that the seventh, eighth and ninth instructions of the court were calculated to divert the minds of the jurors from the facts upon which the guilt or innocence really turned; that the sixth instruction was erroneous and prejudicial; that questions as to the relative rights of the United Mine Workers to assemble and march in a peaceable manner, and of the right of the operators to protect their property from violence and invasion, should not have been submitted to the jury, and that the tenth instruction was an entirely erroneous and misleading statement of the law. In commenting on the tenth instruction Judge Burnam said:

JUDGE BURNAM'S OPINION.

All that the law required of Lindle was that he should have in good faith believed and had reasonable grounds.

that Taylor and the others with him, had banded themselves together and gone forth armed for the purpose of alarming, intimidating or injuring any person or persons.

If this was true he and the other defendants summoned by him had the lawful right to disperse and arrest such persons without warrant, and to use such force as was reasonably necessary to effect this purpose, if Taylor and those with him resisted arrest it was lawful, if necessary to make such arrest, to shoot the persons so resisting.

When the case came before the court here, on appeal, Attorney General Breckinridge refused, after reading the record, to ask an affirmance of the judgment of the lower court. The case was argued before the court for the defendants by Ollie James, of Marion, Crittenden county.

The Working People's Slanderers.

"I killed the President," said Czolgosz, liar, loafer, murderer, anarchist, "because he was the enemy of the working people."

It was a practical certainty that he would say something like this, if he said anything.

It is not often that the working people escape when some scoundrel poses as a reformer.

Czolgosz, who according to his own father, would not work, of course defended his crime by declaring that it was done in the interest of the working people.

There is not a charlatan or rascal in politics who does not attempt to advance his selfish and swindling schemes by claiming to be the champion of the working people.

Socialism, anarchism and most of the other isms urged by those who would tear down society in preference to working for a living, are urged by those who seek to give such nostrums some respectability by insisting that they are for the benefit of the working people.

And yet this whole brood have a supreme contempt for working people who honestly work, especially when they succeed in bettering their own condition by their work.

That real working people have not suffered more than they have from the mouthings of mountebanks and adventurers is due to the fact that the world has a pretty accurate estimate of these slanderers of honest labor, and knows pretty well the motives of what they say.—Courier-Journal.

LARGE OUTPUT.

October Coal Product Above the Average in Hopkins County Mines.

The shipments of coal during the past week in Hopkins county has been above the average of the usual October business; and this is saying a good deal, for October is a good month for coal shipments.

The biggest day's work for the St. Bernard group of mines was on the 28th instant when these mines shipped 3,677 tons of coal.

WIFE MURDER.

Frank Purcell, of Washington, Indiana, Accused of Kicking His Wife to death.

BROTHER OF LABOR AGITATOR.

Washington, Ind., Oct. 26.—Frank Purcell, accused by his fourteen-year-old son, Jesse, of having killed his wife on the evening of August 8—the night on which their daughter, Nettie, was wedded to Noah Southerland, will be placed on trial in the Circuit Court here Monday.

On the evening of the alleged murder Frank Purcell returned from his day's work at the coal mine and found his daughter and Noah Southerland ready to leave for the M. E. parsonage to be married. As they drove away he bade them good-bye and then entered his home. He asked where his wife was, and was told that she had gone to the rear of the barn in order to avoid seeing the bridal couple depart—that she was broken-hearted because he (Purcell) had refused to allow Nettie and her husband to live with them.

The Alleged Murder.

Purcell went to the barn and found his wife sitting in a doorway, her seventeen-months-old babe in her lap. "What the h— are you crying about your d— kids for?" asked the husband. Then he is alleged to have struck her twice in the back, and as she arose kicked her twice in the abdomen. With a cry of pain Mrs. Purcell dropped her babe upon the ground and staggered toward the house, where a few invited wedding guests had assembled. Purcell picked up the baby and carried it to the house.

Upon reaching the rear doorway Mrs. Purcell sank to the ground and became unconscious, dying in a few hours. The wedding feast was turned into a night of mourning. It was stated that Mrs. Purcell's death was due to heart trouble.

An undertaker was called, and while he found an unusual amount of blood in the abdominal cavity, he took it for granted that her death was due to natural causes.

Son's Charge.

On the following day, however, Jesse Purcell, the fourteen-year-old son, made his way to Prosecuting Attorney Padgett's office, and there related a story of what he saw while standing in the doorway of a partition wall. In his boyish way he said that his mother was sitting on a doorkill crying, and that his father approached and beat and kicked her. When he had finished his startling story he filed an affidavit against his father charging him with wife-murder. When placed under arrest that night Purcell put his right hand to his forehead and exclaimed: "Oh, my God." He refused to make any statement whatever other than a general denial of the accusations of his son Jesse.

Daughter's Testimony.

At the inquest Mrs. Noah Southerland, the sixteen-year-old daughter whose marriage probably led to her mother's death, testified that when she returned home from the parsonage, where the wedding ceremony was performed, she found her mother lying in bed complaining of pains in her stomach and groaning all the time. Once her mother faintly asked for water, and when she started to get it her father said:

The figures are not at hand for the other mines but all are running regularly and claim to be producing their full quota of coal. There is an abundance of coal orders and no scarcity of labor in any quarter. Cars are also had in good supply on the Louisville and Nashville line, but are a little irregular on the Illinois Central.

"No use, Nettie, it is too late now." She testified that when she saw her father strike her mother on the head with such force that blood ran from one ear. Another time, she said, she saw him place a revolver to Mrs. Purcell's head and threaten to blow out her brains because she had permitted the children to attend a dance at a neighbor's house.

Saw Mrs. Purcell fall.

Mrs. Sylvester Purcell, sister-in-law of the accused man, testified that she was one of the wedding guests, and that she saw Mrs. Purcell fall in the doorway. She commenced bathing her face with water and told Frank Purcell, now accused of murder, to go for a doctor. He replied: "I don't think there is any use; I believe she's dead." Mrs. Purcell kept placing her hands to her abdomen and groaned as if in terrible pain.

A post-mortem examination was held, and it was found that the spleen on the left side was ruptured and the abdominal cavity filled with blood. On her back was found a blue mark, and a bruise was found on one of her arms. Bruises were found on the inner right thigh and in the right groin. The Coroner later rendered a verdict to the effect that her death was due to a ruptured spleen caused by external violence.

The accused man is a brother of Geo. W. Purcell (alias Jones) of Terre Haute, Ind., who is a member of the National Executive Board of the United Mine Workers of America.

Barnum's Monkeys

"All well—all happy—lots of fun." That is the regular report from the monkey cage of Barnum's Circus ever since the keepers began dosing the monkeys with Scott's Emulsion. Consumption was carrying off two thirds of them every year and the circus had to buy new ones.

One day a keeper accidentally broke a bottle of Scott's Emulsion near the monkey cage and the monkeys eagerly lapped it up from the floor. This suggested the idea that it might do them good. Since then the monkeys have received regular doses and the keepers report very few deaths from consumption. Of course it's cheaper to buy Scott's Emulsion than new monkeys—and that suits the circus men.

Consumption in monkeys and in man is the same disease. If you have it or are threatened with it can you take the hint?

The picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion, and is on the wrapper of every bottle. Send for sample.

DOWN IN THE MINES.

Rumor says that the new coal company which has been busy for weeks or months past securing the mineral rights on land at and in the vicinity of Robards, Ky., have closed the deal for the coal privileges on 19,000 acres.

To be at Henderson and see the numerous coal cars loaded with the dusky diamonds passing north would lead one to believe that the agitators who were going to stop the Hopkins county and other mines have made a dismal failure, indeed. The writer counted ten or twelve cars on one train one day late on route north.

Pres. Minters, who was accidentally killed in the Monarch mines last week, was for years in the employ of the St. Bernard Coal Company, and was regarded by them as a good, practical miner.

When we note the fact that the killing of Officer Coffey was done by the idle miners at the Empire mines, and not by the day tollers, are we warranted in saying that the leaders of the U. M. W. A., whose mission thus far in this region seems to be to promote idle ness and crime.

It is estimated that the cost to the county thus far for guards to guard the property threatened by the U. M. W. A. is about five thousand dollars, and the question here arises, who is responsible for this additional cost laid upon the taxpayers.

Are the men who are operating our mines under the right given them by our laws, and who should be allowed the privilege of controlling their own property, regardless of the dictates of outside parties, in the least to blame?

After an expenditure of thousands of dollars for guards to protect lives and property, can they be blamed for calling upon the miners to work?

The U. M. W. A. are very firm who have been instrumental in building up the prosperity of the county, should not be censured; but instead those who in the least way aided or encouraged the U. M. W. A. to come to our county, and who, for perhaps selfish reasons, have asked them to remain, are to blame, and the primary cause can be thus traced; and now, when they begin to realize the blot they have inflicted upon our county, they strive to shift the responsibility.

Agitators Purcell and Wood have, through their representatives, endeavored to make capital of the fact that under the guard of the state militia they were allowed to speak in Earlinton and other points in Hopkins county, where their cause is not favored by the laboring men. The workers in mines and mills yet to come may be blamed, but they became a violator of the law, and their efforts to convince the poor, misguided fund gatherer in other states that they are being mistreated, is for the purpose of having the corruption fund increased.

The U. M. W. A. find but few sympathizers at Henderson, which perhaps, in part, is due, if true,

Wood's frequent visits there, and his acts, which have caused the miners to revolt against a cause led by such men.

The few serious accidents which have occurred the last year or two in the mines of this county show plainly the necessity of greater care on the part of the miners. The last two deaths have, we are informed, been caused by the failure to be as careful as they should.

Many of the miners avail themselves of the opportunity to call upon their former brother miner, Mr. Browning, who is now confined to his bed with a serious injury.

Col. Sobree and Henry Jones are the big two who make daily visits to the St. Charles mine, looking after the interests of the St. Bernard at that place.

Shut down or hand over the coal mines of Hopkins county to the U. M. W. A. would mean a loss to the property holders of the county, including the farmers, of at least 50 per cent.

After completing some needed improvements here, the St. B. building crew, under Foreman Toombs, will again make headquarters at Morton's next week.

One who says he knows whereof he speaks, makes the report that cards of transfer are now being issued to members of the U. M. W. who wish to leave the state. Up to this time, in order to keep their small force here together, they have refused to grant cards; but now, with probably a severe winter close by and no fuel or money in sight, necessity compels such action.

Sonor Elikins of West Virginia and others have recently purchased about 80,000 acres of coal land, which they intend to put into production as soon as possible.

Work in the Hopkins coal mine seems to be suspended. There seems to have been some disappointment over the quality of the coal struck in the vein they reached.

WITH A LIE ON HIS LIPS.

Crogoz Died Declaring That President McKinley Was an Enemy of Good People.

EXECUTION PROMPT AND SUCCESSFUL.

The Last Act in the Great Tragedy of the Opening Year of the Twenty-first Century.
Commemorated Within Two Months of the Commission of the Terrible Crime.

Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 29.—At 7:15 a.m. President Leon F. C. Warden Mead, of Auburn, N. Y., paid the extreme penalty exacted by the law for his crime. He was shocked to death by 1,700 bolts of electricity. He went to the chair in exactly the same manner as have the majority of condemned men, with a look of particular signs of fear, but in fact, doing what few of them have done—talking to the witnesses while he was being strapped in the chair.

Crogoz's Parting Fancies.

"I killed the president because he was the enemy of the good people, of the good working people. I am NOT sorry for my crime."

The Death Chamber.

In the chamber Electrocuted, Davis and Ward, Warden, Town of Danvers, had arranged the chair test, placing a bank of 32 incandescent lights across the arms, and connecting the electrode wires at either end.

The witnesses were ordered seated, and the warden read briefy addressed them, saying:

"You are here to witness the legal death of Leon F. Crogoz. I desire that you keep your seats and preserve absolute silence in the death chamber, and when the sentence is pronounced there are plenty of guards and prison officials to preserve order and to the proper details."

No Time Wasted.

It was just exactly 7:11 o'clock when he entered the death-chamber and he had just finished the last statement when the strapping was completed and the warden stepped back. Warden Mead freed his hand and at 7:12:30 Electrocuted the switch which was burning itself out, and in time "we ought to show ourselves master in the house we have here to be rebuking to live in it."

January 30, Thursday, army and navy reception.

REPEALING THE TRANSVAAL.

Lord Milner of Cape Town Advocates Early Rehabilitation of the Transvaal.

The imperial authorities have reached the conclusion that the early repealing of the Transvaal and Orange River colonies is advisable, as that the normal industrial and agricultural life of the colonies may be resumed.

In the course of a speech, Monday, Lord Milner of Cape Town said it was useless to wait until the war was over to consider the colonies. It may be over, he declared, but it was burning itself out, and in time "we ought to show ourselves master in the house we have here to be rebuking to live in it."

ANOTHER GOOD ROADS TRAIN.

The Southern Railway Co. Commences the Extension of the Illinois Central.

Washington, Oct. 30.—A special good roads train, similar in its equipment to the train recently run over the southern lines of the Illinois Central, has started on the road to the railroads yesterday with the object of building sample roads and giving practical lessons in road building in the southern states which the road traverses. Officials of the National Good Roads Association, who are in charge of the train and will conduct good roads conventions in the principal cities and towns visited.

The rush of the current threw the body so hard against the straps that they creaked perceptibly. The hands were bound behind the back. The title was one of extreme tension. For 45 seconds the full current was kept on and then slowly the electrician threw the switch back, reducing the current volt by volt until it was cut off. He then released the lever he had gripped for two or three seconds. The body, which had collapsed as the current was reduced, stiffened again against the straps.

Want to Die.

When it was time to die again, Dr. Macdonald stepped to the chair and put his hand over the heart. He said he felt no pulsation, but suggested that the current be turned on for a few moments, and when the body became rigid, At 7:15 the current was turned off for good.

From the time Crogoz had left his cell until the full penalty was paid, less than four minutes had passed. The physicians present had the stethoscope and other tests to determine if any life remained, and at 7:17 the warden, raising his hand, announced:

"The Prisoner is Dead."

"Gentlemen, the prisoner is dead." The witness, who had come from the chamber, mentioned that the victim's body was taken from the chair and laid on the operating table.

Brain Was Normal.

The physicians holding the autopsy have decided, after a critical examination, that Crogoz's brain was normal. If not above normal.

BRIEFLY OF THE BODY.

A Carcase of Acid Used to Destroy the Assassin's Body.

Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Crogoz's body was placed in a black stained pine coffin, every portion of the anatomy being replaced under the supervision of Dr. Gerhard Warden Mead. Shortly afterward it was taken to the prison cemetery and an extraordinary precaution taken to completely destroy it. A few days ago, under the warden's order, an expert of the coroner's office, who had committed suicide by taking blue vitriol, and the child, it is supposed, continued to nurse from the lifeless body until it perished from poisoning by cold.

Teva Almost Wiped Out.

Wyo., Oct. 30.—Fire, which broke out at night, destroyed the town of Coalville, Wyo., last night in the village of Coalville, practically destroying the business portion. The town is without fire protection of any consequence, and the citizens were forced to fight the fire with buckets. Loss, between $40,000 and $50,000.

Celebrated His Golden Wedding.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 30.—Mrs. Julia Wofford, 70 years old, died yesterday morning at the home of her son, Count Boson de Pergord, who is the chief lieutenant of Leo Turner, proprietor of the "Quarter" house and is said to have killed several men and is to give a motive for the crime.

SHE MAY BECOME A DUCHESS.

Count Boson de Pergord, Mrs. Boson's Chateau de Carrières a Dokeson with it.

Paris, Oct. 30.—Count Boson de Pergord, who recently married Miss Helen Morton, daughter of Mr. L. P. Morton, the former vice-president of the United States, Boston, and Consul-General Dickinson, who is now in Soho, regarding the efforts to rescue Miss Sloane, the abducted American missionary, from the brigands. The legation is reluctant, and nothing has been made public as to the negotiations.

One Killed and One Fatally Wounded in a Riot in Tennessee.

Mayes was killed and Joe Nall was mortally wounded Saturday night at the "Quarter" house, on the Tennessee line. Mayes was killed by Nall when he received his death wound at the hands of an unknown man, who engaged in a struggle with the Count. Mayes was the chief lieutenant of Leo Turner, proprietor of the "Quarter" house and is said to have killed several men and is to give a motive for the crime.

THE WIDOW TAYLOR'S MOTIVE.

She Went Over Niagara Falls to Secure Money to Provide a Home for Herself.

May City, Mich., Oct. 30.—Mrs. Anna Foltz, 40, a widow, having been in the city for 30 years, yesterday celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of her wedding. She was once a prosperous Moravian manufacturer, and failed, coming to this country penniless. She never took a vacation until yesterday, Mr. Foltz is 70 years old in his wife's old.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1901.

Don't forget that next Tuesday is election day. It is the duty of every citizen of legal age to go to the polls and vote for the best interests of his home and county on that day.

The published announcement says: "Good speakers will accompany the band wagon." It was well put, except that the qualifying adjective might with propriety have been omitted. Whoever chose them of being "good?" But they do "accompany" the band wagon, which is "it" in this hurrah campaign. It looks like desperation when candidates need a brass band to secure an audience.

CERTAIN villainous and outrageous reports are being whispered about for campaign purposes to aid the men who have lined themselves up against the coal industry of this county and the interests of the large proportion of the county's population directly interested in this important industry. The stories are too mean for publication—too black to print. But the population of Hopkins county carries a large enough proportion of intelligent people to label a vicious and wanton lie when they meet it, and upon the judgment and action of this class of citizens hangs the future welfare of the county's interests.

Good On From Clay.
(Louisville Evening Post.)

A few years ago I was in Clay county. One evening, having nothing to do, I dropped into the schoolhouse to see how they were getting along. The teacher called up the class to spell. One boy spelled the word glass but could not pronounce it. He was told to try it again, so he said, "G-l-a-a-s," and stopped again without pronouncing it. The teacher, to help him, said: "What is it you put in the window?"

A bright look came into the boy's face, and he said: "G-l-a-a-s—dad's old breeches."

RAILWAY COMPANIES

CANNOT BE INDICTED

Railroad Commission Must First Investigate

Any Illegitimate Violations.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 25.—A decision of much importance to railroad interests in Kentucky was rendered at today's session of the Court of Appeals. It is that a grand jury cannot indict a railroad company for violation of the constitution and statutes unless the State Railroad Commission has first investigated the complaint and refused to grant the railroad company the right to so charge.

It was handed down in the case of the Illinois Central Railroad Company against the Commonwealth, appealed from the Hardin County Circuit Court, Chief Justice Paynter and Justices White and Guffy, three of the seven members of the court, dismissed from the opinion.

Carnegie's Gift to Paducah.

Paducah, Ky., Oct. 28.—A letter received here this morning from Andrew Carnegie's private secretary, dated at Skibo Castle, Scotland, states that Mr. Carnegie will give Paducah $3,000 for a public library, providing the city will furnish a building site and agree to appropriate $3,500 a year for its support. These conditions have already been assumed.

NEBO NOTES.

MORSE, FINANCIER.

NEW EMPEROR OF INDUSTRY WHO COMES FROM MAINE.

The Ice Magnate Who Buys Telephone Companies, Banks and Steamship Lines With Seeming Recklessness—Some of His Newest Plans.

Mr. Charles W. Morse, who has returned from his honeymoon tour and who has since been engaged in the management of his various projects to establish a big rival to the Bell Telephone company, is one of the most prominent of the big group of New York capitalists. He is perhaps best known through his connection with the consolidated telephone company, which he helped to trust, of which he is president.

When Mr. Morse undertook to form one corporation various companies that harvested and sold ice, he had the advantage of familiarity with the business from his boyhood.

Mr. Frank C. Cox returned from an extended visit in the Corinth neighborhood Sunday.

Miss May Cardwell, living about two and a half miles from town, and Mr. Barker, of the Pleasant Grove country, were united in marriage last Wednesday. The bride has many friends in Nebo, all of whom wish her a happy future.

Miss Janie and Mr. Chris King visited their grandfather in Crittenden County Saturday and Sunday.

Brother Currie filled his appointments Saturday night and Sunday morning. While here he announced that a protracted meeting, conducted by Rev. Harrelson, would begin at the Methodist Church first Thursday in November.

The Epoch League failed to have its literary meeting Friday night.

Mac Hill and family of Morton's Gap visited relatives near here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hill spent Monday in Richland.

Mrs. Mattie Jackson returned Saturday from a two weeks' trip to St. Louis.

Miss Besse Day spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Myrtle Taylor of the country.

Mr. John Feltus will speak at the church here Thursday night.

Miss Ritchie Key, who is teaching at Dawson, came home Friday evening and remained with her father until Sunday.

J. W. Bone of Madisonville spent several days here, the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Cox, last week.

ANONYMOUS.

Brain Food Nonsense.

Another ridiculous food fad has been bandied by the most incompetent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for the brain, another for the heart, another for the bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body but will sustain every other part. When a food is digested, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must provide for all appetites or prevent the coming of disease by doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy and stomachic. Liver to the action, purifies the blood and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at the Pharmacy Drug Store. Get Green's Special Almanac.

CHARLES W. MORSE

in his business. On leaving school he at once entered into business with his father as an exporter of ice.

After a time he dealers about the coast began to invest in icebergs in the spring. Morse at once became interested in the ice business and in 1880 he moved to New York and soon became interested in the ice business.

In 1885 he resolved to put an end to the warfare between the competing companies, and as a result of his efforts the Consolidated Ice company was evolved. With rare diplomacy and after the expenditure of millions of dollars he succeeded in getting over twenty companies and all their properties, covering the ice business of the Hudson River and most of the business of Maine. The icebergs owned by this company have a capacity of over 2,000,000 tons.

Next Mr. Morse suddenly became heavily interested in New York banking properties. Measured by his investments and by the number of banks, trust corporations and realty companies which he has been instrumental in, Mr. Morse easily stands first among the bankers of the metropolis. All these interests he has obtained within the past two years. His latest enterprise is the consolidation of the leading steamship lines plying between Europe and America.

These various exploits have made it apparent that this man from Maine is to be reckoned with in these days of great financial activity. He is one of the rich men of New York who can put up a thousand dollars to a suit that contains the names of men possessing $20,000,000 or more, and he has shown himself to have constructive genius and remarkable audacity, modified by great soundness of judgment.

It is for these reasons that his telephone company is arousing much comment. The impression in the New York financial circles is that Mr. Morse intends to finance his corporation so that it will be able to obtain at once the vast amount of money necessary to put into operation his plan to link Boston and over the territory between these two cities. Having accomplished that, the next move it is thought will be to extend the plants all over the United States and to construct a perfect system as that possessed by the original company. The magnitude of this undertaking is self evident.

women and Jewels.

Jewels, candy, flowers, man—that is the order of a woman's preferences. Jewels form a magnet of mind, never to be forgotten.

Even the greatest of all jewels, health, is often ruined in the strenuous efforts to make or save the money. If health is to be had, if a woman will not let her fortify herself against the insidious consequences of poverty, she will find a regular affection for the regular use of Boeschee's German Syrup.

It will promptly arrest consumption in its early stages and help to affective the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure-all, but it is a certain cure for coughs, colds and all bronchial affections. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at St. Bernard Drug Store. Get Green's Special Almanac.

Dr. Chatten reported last night it was doing all right at the present.

Human Hearts

He is transported from the strife of town to the atmosphere of hilly country, with its simple, honest people, pursuing their lives of affection and trust, is in itself a refreshment. To hear the singing of birds and those other sounds associated with the farm, to hear and see all things that flood the memory with pleasant experiences or excite the imagination to a realizing sense of the poetry of common things, is not only a relief from the cares of the day, but a renewal of the better side of our nature. In the realistic melodrama, "Human Hearts," whose scene is laid chiefly among the hills of Arkansas, we find a power and a charm that takes us from our present surroundings into others that have this effect. The details of the plot are true to life and art. Everything has its purpose and furthers the main intention of an all-absorbing story of love, hate, injustice and retribution. The play engages our sympathies for the sufferings visited on a family of plain, honest people, through the unfortunate marriage of a village blacksmith with a New York adventuress, who thought to reform but failed, the temptations of the old life proving too strong for her. Not only these two, but all associated with them suffer by their mistake. The dark side of this powerful story is well balanced by humor, adroitly introduced and made a necessary element of the action. To defeat the plot would rob the reader of the pleasure of its surprises, for like "Shore Acres" and "The Old Home-stead," "Human Hearts," while on a different theme, thrills with interest true to nature and is an ever-welcome visitor to the discriminating and thoughtful spectator. That its production will be welcomed by an overflowing house, is almost a foregone conclusion. At Temple Theatre, Tuesday, Nov. 12.

GOTHAM'S CAMPAIGN

PERSONALITY OF LEADERS IN NEW YORK'S MUNICIPAL CONTEST.

Millionsire College President Who Heads Anti-Tammany Forces and the Reformer Who Tammany Men Have Named For Mayor.

New York is now in the throes of a somewhat remarkable and interesting municipal campaign. The anti-Tammany forces have united with Mr. Low as their standard bearer, to fight the Tiber. The opposing candidate is Edward M. Shepard. Both candidates are men whose political careers have been indicative of an independent mind. In many other points can a parallel be drawn in the history and personality of the two.

Mr. Low, who has resigned the presidency of Columbia University in order that he may have free hand for his campaign, is several times a millionaire, but is ever on the alert to do his duty to his country. Born in Brooklyn fifty-one years ago, he entered Columbia at the age of seventeen and was graduated at the head of his class in 1870. He at once started in business as a lawyer in that city, and is a staunch member of the Tammany Hall. The family moved to New York when the present candidate was a boy, and, like Mr. Low, he received his primary and secondary education at the College of the City of New York.

Mr. Shepard's first noteworthy appearance in municipal affairs was his conduct of the case against John V. McGraw, the baseball manager, which resulted in Mr. McGraw's imprisonment. As a politician Mr. Shepard has been everything but a Reformer. At one time he was a vigorous opponent of Tammany Hall, but the two became fast friends later.

In 1886 Mr. Shepard was the Democratic candidate for mayor of Brooklyn, but was defeated. In the first Bryan campaign he opposed Mr. Bryan, but the second was one of his most ardent supporters.

SETH LOW.

With his father and at the same time became to take a lively interest in public matters.

The campaign in 1880 for the election of Garfield was the means of bringing Mr. Low into the political limelight as the president of the then organized Brooklyn Republican Campaign.

The following year he was elected mayor of Brooklyn on a platform pledging reform in municipal administration.

In 1883 he was re-elected.

In 1885 he became president of the Garfield school. Mr. Low, like his father, has been turned into a millionaire. It has been enriched by most generous gifts, one of these being a library built by Mr. Low himself at a cost of $100,000 as a memorial to his father.

Mr. Low is a wealthy man. His wealth is derived from his own exertions, for he was born with little more than his brains and his energy. He is one of our most successful lawyers, but is best known from the fact that for more than a dozen years he has been before the people of his city and state in practically all the great movements, political and economic, that have marked that period.

For many years Mr. Shepard has made Brooklyn his home, but he is by

been frequently in the public eye, thanks to the sensational actions of himself and his children.

It will be remembered that Carlos signalled himself some years ago by marrying Maria, the daughter of the Duke of Alba. The couple have since separated since the death of his first wife. But the gossip that followed the wedding was not to the shock sustained by royal circles in Europe when it was learned that one of his daughters, the Infanta Elvira, had eloped with a married man named Folchi.

Folchi was no adventurer, but a highly successful artist and kindred. Marrying Maria, he had been separated since the death of his first wife. WILL RETIRE.

J. G. Metcalfe Deposed as General Manager of Denver & Rio Grande.

Place Given to One of George Gould's Old Employees—Mr. Martin May Also Leave.

Denver, Col., Oct. 20.—In the reorganization of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, dictated by George Gould, who recently made a tour of the system, J. G. Metcalfe, who for two years has been general manager, is deposed to make room for one of Mr. Gould's old employees. He will retire November 1 and will be succeeded by J. M. Herbert, late general superintendent of the Southern Pacific.

General Manager J. G. Metcalfe came to the Denver & Rio Grand from the Louisville & Nashville road. He accepted the position of general manager of the Denver & Rio Grande more than two years ago.

No Fault Found With Metcalfe.

Mr. Metcalfe has acquitted himself with credit in the responsible position on the Denver & Rio Grande, and no reason is assigned for the change other than a desire of the Gould people to favor one of their old employees at this time. The news of the retirement of Mr. Metcalfe at this time created general surprise.

As Mr. W. S. Martin came to the Denver & Rio Grande as the special choice of the retiring general manager, it is accepted as highly probable that he will retire with his chief. He superseded N. P. Sample, now superintendent of the Louisville Locomotive works.

LINDLE AND POSSEMAN ARE FREE ONCE MORE

Bond Fixed and They Are Released at Once After Appellate Court Decision Is Received.

MANY FRIENDS ARE REJOICING.

J. B. Lindle, the deputy sheriff of Hopkins county who, with his two possemen, Wade McIntosh and Ed Johnson, was sentenced at a special term of court in August to two years in the penitentiary, is a free man, after being confined since the May term of the Kentucky circuit court.

Lindle, with the two possemen, was convicted of manslaughter on the charge of killing Henry Taylor and Bill Cook, the leaders of an armed body of miners who had invaded the Carbonado mines, in January last, while the little posse was trying to carry out the orders of the sheriff to prevent intimidation of miners.

Some weeks ago, when the Madisonville union camp was filled with several hundred armed men, who were daily and nightily shooting into miners' houses and the Reinecke mine plant, the sheriff concluded that these prisoners were not safe in the Madisonville jail, and removed them to Hopkinsville.

Upon receiving news of the reversal of the lower court by the Court of Appeals Tuesday, the attorneys and others took steps for the release of the prisoners under the writ of habeas corpus, which the sheriff had issued for them. The bond was returned Tuesday night at Madisonville, and an order issued to the deputy sheriff in charge of the prisoners setting out this fact and instructing him to release them upon arrival here, so that they might go to their homes as soon as possible. Lindle lives here; McIntosh and Johnson live at St. Charles, nine miles west of this place.

There is much rejoicing among their many friends who have all along looked upon them as innocent men who were fearlessly trying to perform their duty, and while so doing were fired on and compelled to return the fire in defense of their lives. There were only four officers on one side and one hundred and ten or more marching on the other, many of whom were women.

A Frankfort dispatch, giving the gist of the decision of the Court of Appeals, is published in another column.

When the train reached here at 11 o'clock Tuesday night, the prisoners were surprised and rejoiced to be released and allowed to go home at once. Although the matter had been kept a profound secret, there was a knot of friends at the train who gave the boys a warm welcome.

Lindle went home to his family, and McIntosh and Johnson engaged a rig at once to take them to St. Charles.

Many a bearty, healthy laugh runs through the house when "Inman Hearts" is played. The piano-puffing is a treat.

The drama is replete with interest, including an incident following each other so closely that it seems the author's invention must find its limit. But not the action sustains its novelty and force to the very close of the last act, which alone is worth seeing—a silent story effectively told to a hushed audience who struggle with tears.

Mining Property Guarded at Private Expense for the Past Year—

The armed camps of the United Mine Workers are still flourishing at Nortonville and Madisonville. The Nortonville camp seems to be under direct command of W. B. Kissinger, organizer who has figured in the trouble in Hopkins county to no small extent.

Local members of the organization are ordered into the camps by threats of cutting off the allowance of food if they refuse. Persuaded or forced into joining the union, with promise of liberal support which is never forthcoming; prevented from getting work elsewhere by not allowing members "transfer cards," these men are indeed in distress. With winter at hand, poorly clothed as well as fed, this organization which they have sworn to obey, gives them Winchester, Colt and Mauser rifles instead of food and clothing, that they may take by force of arms the mines of Hopkins county, the county one cent. As over 8,000 of the 31,000 people in the county are dependent directly upon the mines for a living it does seem as if the time had come when the entire county should bear at least a part of the burden.

At this writing but five of the miners in the county are partly protected by county guards, while seven miners are entirely protected by the employees of the companies.

For one year the coal companies of this county have spent large sums of money in protecting their property from mobs, organized inside and outside the union camps, without costing the county one cent. As over 8,000 of the 31,000 people in the county are dependent directly upon the mines for a living it does seem as if the time had come when the entire county should bear at least a part of the burden.

If the people of the county will see to it that the laws now on the statutes books are enforced there will be no need of armed guards to protect life and property. Let the laws be enforced regardless of cheap and reckless politicians.

KILLING AT MADISONVILLE.

Ed Laffoon Dies of a Knife Wound Inflicted in a Fight.

WILL HORNBEAM CONFESSES.

Something has been said since Laffoon's death about his connection with the Lindle case. A search of the court record shows that J. B. Lindle on May 8, 1901, issued a subpoena to Ed Laffoon to testify in behalf of Lindle. The officer who had the paper returned it with report that Laffoon could not be found.

time would be required to gather evidence. J. C. Duffy, who represented Will Goldwathy, said that his client was in delicate health and insisted on an immediate trial. The attorneys employed by the miners' union said they were unwilling to a longer postponement than two days.

Judge Cansler named Thursday as the day for the examining trial and remanded the prisoners to jail. They are charged with the murder of Mr. Coffey and shooting at John Fields and others with intent to kill. Will Goldwathy is also charged with resisting and attempting to kill an officer.

The prisoners refuse to talk of the affair. Sunday they notified the miners' union officials by telephone of their arrest.

ANOTHER SERENADE.

Much Ammunition Wasted Last Night in Neighborhood of Oak Hill.

MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED SHOTS.

From one hundred to one hundred and twenty-five shots were fired by an unknown party of men not far from the Oak Hill mines about 8:30 o'clock last night. The guards at Oak Hill remained at their post and awaited a possible attack but at about 11 o'clock the shots did not stop. The shooting seems to have been done by a straggling party from the Nortonville union camp, and for the purpose of creating a sensation.

Adjutant General Murray and Capt. Ellis visited Earlington yesterday and from there drove to Nortonville where they visited one of the union camps in that neighborhood.

"The Best is the Cheapest."

Not how cheap, but how good, is the question.

The TWICE-A-WEEK REPUBLIC is not as cheap as some so-called newspapers. But it is as cheap as it is possible to sell a first-class newspaper. It prints all the news that is worth printing, and reads it all the year round, you are posted on all the important and interesting affairs of the world. It is the best and most reliable newspaper that money and brains can produce and those should be the distinguishing traits of the newspaper that is designed to be read by all members of the family.

Subscription price, $1 a year. Any newspaper, newspaper or postmaster will receive your subscription, or you may mail it direct to

A Fiendish Attack.

An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier of Cherokee, Iowa, that proved fatal. His hand got stuck through his fingers. His hand got so lame he could not stop without great pain, nor sit in a chair except propped by one leg. No one could stand him until he tried Electric Bitter which effected such a wonderful change that he feels like a new man. It cures rheumatism, backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 60¢ at St. Bernard Drug Store.
